Foreign Aid Bill Set for Vote

Senate Debates New Amendments

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hotly contested amendments to President Kennedy's long-range foreign aid program come up for Senate votes today.

Attracting the most attention is a proposal by Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa. It would require an annual congressional committee review of the program with the power to put limitations on each year's spending if "national policy shall so require."

The proposal was stirring up almost as much controversy as the big fight over presidential authority for Treasury borrowing to finance Kennedy's five-year, $8.8-billion program of development loans to needy nations.

Kennedy won that first fight Friday night when the Senate defeated an amendment by Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., which would have required yearly financing by congressional appropriations. The vote was 56 to 39.

Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, favored the Hickenlooper amendment over other control proposals on which the Senate will vote under a total three-hour debate limitation.

But Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., who joined nine other Republicans in opposing the Byrd amendment, declared the Hickenlooper proposal "would destroy what we did Friday night."

He contended the Appropriations Committee would still have power to recommend limitations in development loan spending even if it could not cut the money available to the loan agency.

Ohio September Draft Call Slated For 1,764 Men

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Selective Service headquarters today issued a September induction call for 1,764 men, highest of the year. It reflected the national effort to step up the size of the Armed forces in face of the Berlin crisis.

The call is 553 higher than the August draft. It is more than 10 times the low monthly call of the year—153 in March.

Despite the increase, the Selective Service announcement said the policy of limiting inductions to registrants at least 22 years old will be continued in September. Younger volunteers will be accepted, however.

The September induction call by counties:

Clinton 2, Fayette 8, Highland 11, Warren 11, Greene 13.
Pickaway 17, Madison 2, Ross 12.
Hocking 14, Perry 10, Fairfield 18, Athens 9, Vinton 6.
Van Wert 2, Paulding 4, Putnam none, Allen 26, Mercer 9.

Brandenburg Gate Is Now No Man's Land Strong Point

BERLIN, Germany (AP)—The Brandenburg Gate, long a symbol of freedom and reunification for all Germans, today looks like a strong point in the middle of no man's land awaiting an enemy attack.

Armored trucks block the gate's five passages between its six great stone pillars. Soviet-type tanks are deployed farther back, their long cannon pointing West. East German riot troops stand ready.

Tangles of barbed wire ring the Western edge of the huge circular space surrounding the gate. This is the point between East and West Berlin where demonstrations against the city's disunity have broken out in the past.

A hulking police water truck, its engine rumbling, waits behind the barbed wire to hurl a hard stream of cold water at anyone on the Western side who gets too close.

The space around the Brandenburg Gate is dominated by armed men in uniform from both sides, watching one another across barbed wire.

Bread Price May Go Up Cent a Loaf

CHICAGO (AP) — Housewives throughout the country may be paying a penny a loaf more for bread before long as a result of increased manufacturing costs, baking industry sources said today.

E. E. Kelley Jr., president of the American Bakers Association, declined to affirm the likelihood of the one-cent figure, but he said: "It will be little short of a miracle if bread prices are not increased in the near future throughout the nation."

Americans consume 15 billion loaves of bread annually, about 80 per cent of which is white bread. A penny increase at the grocery counter would amount to about $120 million.

The $2 support price fixed by the federal government on next year's crop wheat is an important factor in a cost boost being felt already by millers and bakers. The current support price is $1.79. Many farmers are holding their hard wheat off the market awaiting higher prices.

Kelley, who heads a bakery company in Lakeland, Fla., said in a statement that the total increased price of flour is greater than the estimated net profits of the baking industry in 1960.

Town Cuts Its Taxes 14th Consecutive Year

SAN LEANDRO, Calif. (AP)—The City Council has done it again.

The council voted Monday night to cut the tax rate—the 14th consecutive year this northern California city has chopped taxes.

The tax rate was $1.98 per $100 assessed valuation in 1948 when San Leandro, then a town of 26,442, started the trend.

The latest cut was just two cents—from $1.20 to $1.18—but San Leandro now has 70,000 residents.

block the road about half a mile this side of the gate. Perhaps a hundred West Berliners stood behind them in a cold drizzle today, looking to the military concentration under the Red flag flying in the distance. They said nothing. Their faces were expressionless. They could get no closer.

A West Berlin policeman, smiling apologetically, explained that this reporter would have to go the rest of the way on foot—and only reporters could cover that last half-mile.

As the reporter walked up the deserted avenue, West Berlin policemen, wearing gray capes over their blue uniforms because of the nasty weather, patrolled the surrounding woods of the Tiergarten, the city's big central park.

They were looking for possible demonstrators who might somehow have slipped into the forbidden area.

At the square, the reporter kept going toward the barbed wire at the border until menaced by the turret of the East German water truck. A photographer who pushed closer was squirted at and quickly retreated.

Two British soldiers in a jeep—this is the British sector of Berlin—were scanning the Communist defenses with binoculars. They had seen nothing during the morning which indicated trouble on the other side.

The West Berlin police stood about or sat in trucks. An officer with a walkie-talkie was keeping in touch with headquarters.

Across the square, in front of the gate, were East German men, in either the green uniform of the riot police or the brown of the militia-type auxiliary forces. Not more than 30 were visible. Others were hidden by the armored trucks blocking the passages.

The police, their security measures effective at least for the time, had nothing to do but wait. But sometime today, tomorrow, the day after, a new measure by the Communist regime may bring demonstrators charging toward the gate once more. If they are not stopped nobody knows what will happen.

British Tomboy Princess Is 11 Today

LONDON (AP) — Her Royal Highness Princess Anne Elizabeth Alice Louise of the House of Windsor—the palace tomboy with the long name and short hair—was 11 today.

From her mother, Queen Elizabeth II, she inherited her love of horses.

From her father, Prince Philip, she inherited a love of sports.

From her aunt, Princess Margaret, a talent for mimicry.

Anne was given a pony at the age of 4 and learned to ride him in a very short time.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States, Britain, France and West Germany were reported near agreement today on plans to penalize East Germany for barricading the West Berlin escape route for refugees from Communist rule.

Officials of the three West European Allies were to meet with Asst. Secretary of State Foy D. Kohler to work out in detail retaliatory measures which would then be recommended to their governments for action.

At a similar session at the State Department Monday, participants said, the Allied representatives reached general agreement that countermeasures should be taken. Secretary of State Dean Rusk declared in a statement Sunday that the Soviet-supported action by the East German regime to halt the flow of refugees violated East-West agreements providing for free circulation of people and goods in Berlin.

U.S. officials were reported hopeful that the Communist measures cutting off the flight of refugees would not produce an uprising in East Germany. Authorities here saw such a development as putting the Western powers in a dilemma since they have no intention of intervening militarily. It is assumed that an uprising would bring violent repressive measures from East German and Soviet military forces.

Officials said that the Western powers feel that formal protests to the Soviet Union against the sealing off of East Berlin from West Berlin are not sufficient expressions of Western disapproval and that other steps must be taken. Two were reported under serious consideration:

1. Imposition of a ban on travel by East Germans to Western countries. This would mean that the Western powers would no longer issue travel documents or grant visas for East German travelers, which might include persons going on trade missions

Conservancy Officials Visit Miami District

The three directors of the new Scioto Conservancy District, including John H. Dunlap Jr., Route 1, Williamsport, visited Dayton today to view the program of the Miami Conservancy District.

The other two directors are Jacob A. Meckstroth, Columbus, and Virgil Minch, Chillicothe. All three said they will go to Huntington, W. Va., on August 29 to discuss a survey recently completed on the Scioto River Basin by the U. S. Army Engineers.

Plans for six new dams and reservoirs in the Scioto Basin with a cost estimate of $121 million have been outlined by the engineers.

Directors of the Scioto Conservancy District will work these plans into a program to be prepared for the new five-county district within a year. Member counties are Pickaway, Franklin, Ross, Vinton and Scioto.

The directors said $235,688 has been transferred to their treasury from the now defunct Scioto-Sandusky Conservancy District.

Japan Mourns War Dead
TOKYO (AP)—Japan today observed the 16th anniversary of its World War II surrender under Buddhist and Christian memorial services for the war dead in many parts of the country.

Before she was 6, she invented a game of tricycle polo. She can at times be a bit of a devil.

Buckingham Palace once had a very tall footman. Every time Anne passed him she would stop and stare up at his face.

One day when she found the footman standing, lofty and impassive, beside a door, she pulled up a chair, mounted it and got her first close look at his face.

"Thank you," she said, "I just wanted to see what you looked like."

2. Suspension of trade between East Germany and West Germany. This would be a blow to the East German economy which draws such things as sheet steel, machinery and hard coal from West Germany. Officials said that the trade is much more important to the East German than to the West German economy.

School Aid Bill Hits New Snags

Senators Propose Adding Amendments

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sponsors trying to maneuver a bill through Congress to continue federal aid for schools in areas crowded with children of federal personnel ran into fresh difficulties today.

Sen. Pat McNamara, D-Mich., announced that when the measure is brought before the Senate, he will try to tack on an amendment to authorize a two-year-outlay of $650 million for classroom construction.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N. Y., said he will propose an amendment to extend the National Defense Education Act for a year.

The impacted area bill, once passed by the Senate as part of a general aid to education measure, is popular in the House since assistance goes to districts of 319 members.

With all other aid to education legislation locked up in the House Rules Committee, it probably would sail through the House if the Senate doesn't tie some of the other school proposals to it. Such action by the Senate could send the measure to a Rules Committee pigeonhole.

With this in mind, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he hopes the Senate will not load the measure with amendments when it comes up, possibly later this week. He said he wants a national defense education measure passed separately.

He noted that the Senate already has approved school construction and teacher salary aid.

McNamara said in a separate interview he is willing to risk House disapproval of a bill combining impacted area and construction aid.

War Hysteria Grips West, Reds Claim

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda, the Communist party paper, told the Russian people today a new outburst of war hysteria has gripped the West since the closing of the East-West Berlin border.

In an editorial by V. Menshikov the paper asserted that West Germany threatens to become the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's "main force in unleashing a new world war."

The editorial repeated Communist explanations of last Sunday's barricading of the Berlin escape hatch to the West as a measure to keep out spies and provocateurs.

"These measures have produced a new outburst of war hysteria in the camp of the opponents of a peace treaty with Germany," Menshikov wrote.

Prince Charles, 20 months older, commented with boyish disgust: "My sister!"

Until a few years ago Anne liked to play cowboy. Then someone gave her a feathered Indian headdress. That day she went over to the Indians.

Anne celebrated her birthday today at Balmoral Castle in Scotland with the rest of the royal family.

A British fashion writer saluted the anniversary but criticized Anne's "babyish puffed sleeves, Peter Pan collars and tight-waisted coats."

West Opens Campaign To Help Berlin

More Orders Filed To Curb Traffic Into And Out of Big City

BERLIN (AP) — The Communists tightened the screws on West Berlin today and the West opened a campaign of pressure and protests against Russia and her East German satellite.

U.S., British and French military commanders sent sharp notes to Col. Andrei I. Solovyev, the Soviet commandant at Karlshorst in East Berlin protesting the "illegal measures" taken by the East German regime against travel in Berlin.

With tempers flaring on both sides of the new Iron Curtain, Mayor Willy Brandt called West Berliners to a mass protest demonstration outside City Hall Wednesday.

He issued the call after the Communists turned out troops and tanks to enforce a new Iron Curtain across Berlin.

Possible plans to apply the pressure of trade embargoes against East Germany or the whole Communist bloc were reported from Bonn, Washington and London.

The military commandants' letter called the East German action "the most flagrant violation" of the city's status since the Soviet blockade 11 years ago.

The Western military commanders acted against a back ground of German demands for more than paper protests against Communist orders that hit by bit are closing West Berlin off from travel in and out by Germans.

The latest order by The East German interior ministry barred West Berlin motorists from entering East Berlin unless they get special permits. West Germans already had been barred except by special permit.

The first order, early Sunday, sealed the West Berlin border to East Berliners. Designed to stop a tide of westbound refugees from (Continued on Page 2)

Fifth Polaris Submarine Ready To Start Patrol

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Abraham Lincoln soon will go on station as the United States' fifth operational Polaris submarine after firing a one-day record of six missiles, four of them successful.

The big nuclear sub left here Monday en route to the Navy's Polaris depot at Charleston, S.C., to load 16 nuclear-armed missiles before heading for patrol somewhere beneath the oceans of the world.

U.S., Cuba Set For Airliner Deal

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Exchange of a hijacked U.S. airliner and a stolen Cuban navy patrol vessel got under way today with departure of an Eastern Air Lines crew for Havana, and arrival at Key West of Cubans to take over the boat.

A 10-man Eastern Air Lines group left at 10:45 a. m. on a Pan American airliner to retrieve a $2.5 million propjet Super-Electra hijacked over Florida July 24. The airline said that the work of servicing the long-idle 70-passenger plane probably would preclude its takeoff for Miami until Wednesday or Thursday.

Fifteen minutes before the airline crew left for Havana, three Cubans arrived by air at Key West to take home a Cuban navy patrol craft in which political refugees cruised to Florida July 29.

The turnover of the 40-foot Cuban navy patrol boat to Fidel Castro's men and the return of Eastern's propjet plane were arranged through intermediaries between the United States and Cuban governments, which no longer maintain diplomatic relations.

The swap grew out of an exchange of notes between the U.S. government and Cuba, sent through the Swiss because the principals cut off diplomatic relations several months ago. Castro himself had suggested the exchange.

After the patrol boat reached Key West, Harris & Co., a Miami advertising agency, obtained a circuit court order attaching it to apply on a $429,000 judgment Harris held against the Cuban government for advertising services.

The company earlier had attached several hijacked Cuban planes and sold them to help satisfy the claim.

Erwin Harris, head of the advertising agency, said he was withdrawing the claim "in an effort to demonstrate national unity," but he gave up the patrol boat without a request from the State Department to do so.

The EAL plane was hijacked while on a flight from Miami to Tampa, New Orleans and Dallas. The hijacker, Wilfredo Roman Oquendo, 36, still is in Havana.

Meanwhile, Mexico asked Cuba to return Charles Albert Cadon to that country to face trial for hijacking a Pan American DC8 jetliner over Mexican territory last Wednesday and forcing the pilot to land the plane in Havana.

Cadon, 25, was charged with robbery with violence, attack on general communications, threats, illegally carrying firearms and violating individual guarantees.

If found guilty on all counts, the Frenchman could get up to 30 years in prison.

It was believed in Mexico City that the Castro regime would be more likely to turn Cadon over to the Mexican government than to the U.S. government, which also asked for him to face charges in Miami, Fla., of crime on the high seas, assault with a dangerous weapon and assault with intent to murder.

Both Mexico and the United States have extradition treaties with Cuba, but the United States has been reluctant to invoke the procedure because it has rejected previous Castro requests for the extradition of various enemies of his from the United States. The United States said they were political refugees entitled to asylum.

Truck Rams 2 Automobiles; 4 Persons Die

ASHLAND, Ohio (AP)—A truck loaded with gravel ran out of control and crashed into two automobiles on U. S. 250 two miles north of here Monday, killing four persons and injuring four.

Two of the dead and three of the injured were members of a Sistersville, W. Va. family.

Killed were Mrs. Juanita Naomi Goodfellow, 31, of Sistersville; her 8-year-old son, Daniel Joseph; Elmer Lloyd (Bud) Davidson, 33, a television repairman of nearby Savannah, and Lester Dean Butler, 21, of Tavares Lake, Fla., who had been visiting relatives in New Pittsburgh (Wayne County).

The Goodfellow was riding in a Cadillac convertible. Butler was a passenger in the truck and Davidson was alone in a station wagon.

The truck driver, Don Fasig, 26, of Wooster, was reported in critical condition early today at Akron General Hospital.

Others injured were Mrs. Goodfellow's husband, Robert, 31, driver of the convertible; a daughter, Kay, 9, and a son, David, 11, who were admitted to Samaritan Hospital here.

The Ohio Highway Patrol said the northbound truck apparently blew a tire, veering into the southbound lane and hitting Davidson's station wagon head on. It then crossed back into the northbound lane, turned a full circle, recrossed into the southbound lane and crashed head on into the Goodfellow car, officers said.

Judge Pledges Use of Militia

Kentucky Vice Probe Jury Is Impaneled

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP) — Harlan Circuit Judge Edward Hill told the Campbell Grand Jury today he would ask the governor to send a contingent of militia to execute the orders of the court, if necessary.

In his half-hour charge to the jury, impaneled this morning, the 49-year-old judge also said he was asking the assistance of two crime-investigating senators and top federal agencies in the jury probe of vice conditions in Campbell County.

The judge said he also is seeking help from Sen. Estes Kefauver and Attorney General Robert Kennedy.

The reference to the militia came after Hill noted that Sheriff Norbert Roll had complained he did not have enough police to enforce the law, that county police had been ordered not to work in Newport and Newport officials did not see the need for requesting state police aid.

"Therefore, we are rather crippled," Hill said.

He did not elaborate further on his remark about the militia.

The judge chose William Horn as foreman of the 12-member grand jury and ordered an immediate investigation of specific vice payoff allegations.

Mrs. Hatie Jackson, a former Newport prostitute, testified recently at Frankfort that Circuit Judge Ray Murphy and Commonwealth Attorney William Wise, among others, were on her payroll list several years ago. She has not been found for service of a subpoena to serve as a witness.

Murphy called the jury to investigate the charges, later disavowed himself and paved the way for Hill's special appointment. Wise has declined to step down in the case.

But the Newport Ministerial Assn. has disclosed it will seek the removal of Wise through undisclosed strategy.

Friars Carry Credit Cards

Will Franciscans in America start using credit cards? "They afford a certain convenience," he said, "but we don't seem to need them yet."

War Hysteria Grips West, Reds Claim

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda, the Communist party paper, told the Russian people today a new outburst of war hysteria has gripped the West since the closing of the East-West Berlin border.

In an editorial by V. Menshikov the paper asserted that West Germany threatens to become the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's "main force in unleashing a new world war."

The editorial repeated Communist explanations of last Sunday's barricading of the Berlin escape hatch to the West as a measure to keep out spies and provocateurs.

"These measures have produced a new outburst of war hysteria in the camp of the opponents of a peace treaty with Germany," Menshikov wrote.

West Opens Campaign To Help Berlin

More Orders Filed To Curb Traffic into And Out of Big City

BERLIN (AP) — The Communists tightened the screws on West Berlin today and the West opened a campaign of pressure and protests against Russia and her East German satellite.

U.S., British and French military commanders sent sharp notes to Col. Andrei I. Solov'yev, the Soviet commandant at Karlshorst in East Berlin protesting the "illegal measures" taken by the East German regime against travel in Berlin.

With tempers flaring on both sides of the new Iron Curtain, Mayor Willy Brandt called West Berliners to a mass protest demonstration outside City Hall Wednesday.

He issued the call after the Communists turned out troops and tanks to enforce a new Iron Curtain across Berlin.

Possible plans to apply the pressure of trade embargoes against East Germany or the whole Communist bloc were reported from Bonn, Washington and London. The military commanders' letter called the East German action "the most flagrant violation" of the city's status since the Soviet blockade 11 years ago.

The Western military commanders acted against a back ground of German demands for more than paper protests against Communist orders that bit by bit are closing West Berlin off from travel in and out by Germans.

The latest order by the East German interior ministry barred West Berlin motorists from entering East Berlin unless they get special permits. West Germans already had been barred except by special permit.

Fifth Polaris Submarine Ready To Start Patrol

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Abraham Lincoln soon will go on station as the United States' fifth operational Polaris submarine after firing a one-day record of six missiles, four of them successful.

The big nuclear sub left here Monday en route to the Navy's Polaris depot at Charleston, S.C., to load 16 nuclear-armed missiles before heading for patrol somewhere beneath the oceans of the world.

U.S., Cuba Set For Airliner Deal

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Exchange of a hijacked U.S. airliner and a stolen Cuban navy patrol vessel got under way today with departure of an Eastern Air Lines crew for Havana, and arrival at Key West of Cubans to take over the boat.

A 10-man Eastern Air Lines group left at 10:45 a. m. on a Pan American airliner to retrieve a $2.5 million project Super-Electra hijacked over Florida July 24. The airline said that the work of servicing the long-idle 70-passenger plane probably would preclude its takeoff for Miami until Wednesday or Thursday.

Fifteen minutes before the airline crew left for Havana, three Cubans arrived by air at Key West to take home a Cuban navy patrol craft in which political refugees cruised to Florida July 29.

The turnover of the 40-foot Cuban navy patrol boat to Fidel Castro's men and the return of Eastern's project plane were arranged through intermediaries between the United States and Cuban governments, which no longer maintain diplomatic relations.

The swap grew out of an exchange of notes between the U.S. government and Cuba, sent through the Swiss because the principals cut off diplomatic relations several months ago. Castro himself had suggested the exchange.

After the patrol boat reached Key West, Harris & Co., a Miami advertising agency, obtained a circuit court order attaching it to apply on a $429,000 judgment Harris held against the Cuban government for advertising services.

The company earlier had attached several hijacked Cuban planes and sold them to help satisfy the claim.

Erwin Harris, head of the advertising agency, said he was withdrawing the claim "in an effort to demonstrate national unity," but he gave up the patrol boat without a request from the State Department to do so.

The EAL plane was hijacked while on a flight from Miami to Tampa, New Orleans and Dallas. The hijacker, Wilfredo Roman Oquendo, 36, still is in Havana.

Meanwhile, Mexico asked Cuba to return Charles Albert Cadon to that country to face trial for hijacking a Pan American DC8 jetliner over Mexican territory last Wednesday and forcing the pilot to land the plane in Havana.

Cadon, 25, was charged with robbery with violence, attack on general communications, threats, illegally carrying firearms and violating individual guarantees.

If found guilty on all counts, the Frenchman could get up to 30 years in prison.

It was believed in Mexico City that the Castro regime would be more likely to turn Cadon over to the Mexican government than to the U.S. government, which also asked for him to face charges in Miami, Fla., of crime on the high seas, assault with a dangerous weapon and assault with intent to murder.

Both Mexico and the United States have extradition treaties with Cuba, but the United States has been reluctant to invoke the procedure because it has rejected previous Castro requests for the extradition of various enemies of his from the United States. The United States said they were political refugees entitled to asylum.

Truck Rams 2 Automobiles; 4 Persons Die

ASHLAND, Ohio (AP)—A truck loaded with gravel ran out of control and crashed into two automobiles on U. S. 250 two miles north of here Monday, killing four persons and injuring four.

Two of the dead and three of the injured were members of a Sistersville, W. Va. family.

Killed were Mrs. Juanita Naomi Goodfellow, 31, of Sistersville; her 8-year-old son, Daniel Joseph; Elmer Lloyd (Bud) Davidson, 33, a television repairman of nearby Savannah, and Lester Dean Butler, 21, of Tavares Lake, Fla., who had been visiting relatives in New Pittsburgh (Wayne County).

The Goodfellows were riding in a Cadillac convertible. Butler was a passenger in the truck and Davidson was alone in a station wagon.

The truck driver, Don Fasig, 26, of Wooster, was reported in critical condition early today at Akron General Hospital.

Others injured were Mrs. Goodfellow's husband, Robert, 31, driver of the convertible; a daughter, Kay, 9, and a son, David, 11, who were admitted to Samaritan Hospital here.

The Ohio Highway Patrol said the northbound truck apparently blew a tire, veering into the southbound lane and hitting Davidson's station wagon head on. It then crossed back into the northbound lane, turned a full circle, recrossed into the southbound lane and crashed head on into the Goodfellow car, officers said.

British Tomboy Princess Is 11 Today

LONDON (AP) — Her Royal Highness Princess Anne Elizabeth Alice Louise of the House of Windsor—the palace tomboy with the long name and short hair—was 11 today.

From her mother, Queen Elizabeth II, she inherited her love of horses.

From her father, Prince Philip, she inherited a love of sports.

From her aunt, Princess Margaret, a talent for mimicry.

Anne was given a pony at the age of 4 and learned to ride him in a very short time.

Before she was 6, she invented a game of tricycle polo. She can at times be a bit of a devil.

Buckingham Palace once had a very tall footman. Every time Anne passed him she would stop and stare up at his face.

One day when she found the footman standing, lofty and impassive, beside a door, she pulled up a chair, mounted it and got her first close look at his face.

"Thank you," she said, "I just wanted to see what you looked like."

Her more reserved brother,

Prince Charles, 20 months older, commented with boyish disgust: "My sister!"

Until a few years ago Anne liked to play cowboy. Then someone gave her a feathered Indian headdress. That day she went over to the Indians.

Anne celebrated her birthday today at Balmoral Castle in Scotland with the rest of the royal family.

A British fashion writer saluted the anniversary but criticized Anne's "babyish puffed sleeves, Peter Pan collars and tight-waisted coats."

"British children's clothes have improved enormously over the last few years," the stylist wrote in the magazine Woman's Mirror, "and by wearing the best of them Princess Anne could do a great deal for our prestige all over the world."

"What a pity the queen's advisers don't take a stroll round some of our big stores, to see for themselves just what is available." To which the fast-growing princess if she were available for comment would probably say, "Phooey, you ought to see me in jeans."

Friars Carry Credit Cards

TORONTO (AP)—Canadian members of the Franciscan Order are carrying credit cards these days. But they've got more reason than most folks.

When one enters the order, he takes a vow of poverty and, an official explains, isn't supposed to handle money.

The Rev. Irenaeus Herscher, treasurer of the Franciscan Education Conference, disclosed the development.

Will Franciscans in America start using credit cards?

"They afford a certain convenience," he said, "but we don't seem to need them yet."

West Ponders Penalties for East Germany

dominated a foreign policy briefing conference which opened at the State Department Monday and continued through the day. Several top officials including Secretary Rusk appeared before approximately 700 newspaper and radio editors who came here from all over the country.

Under the rules laid down by the State Department, the information provided by officials could be reported but could not be attributed to any individual speakers.

The first round of discussions in the conference developed several points bearing on the Berlin situation and issues involved in it, as assessed by U.S. policy makers:

1. Soviet Premier Khrushchev evidently feels that Soviet rocket and nuclear weapons power has altered the balance of military strength in the world. He feels confident that the Soviet Union should be given its way in the demands he has made on the Western powers to get out of West Berlin.

2. Khrushchev does not want to get involved in a war with the West, however, because of the devastation it would bring to the Soviet Union. So he can be expected to try to alter the status of Berlin by stages rather than to force a military showdown. The danger of war lies in the possibility that he may miscalculate Western determination to stand firm on Berlin and may trigger a conflict almost by accident.

3. The only possible course for the Western powers in this situation is to try to impress on Khrushchev that they will defend their Berlin rights by force if necessary and will not be deterred even by threats of nuclear conflict.

4. Khrushchev's counter to this development of Western policy, as embodied in the strengthening of NATO forces in Western Europe, is to try to split the Western alliance by frightening the European Allies into adopting a softer Berlin policy. Thus he has issued several warnings recently of Soviet power to devastate Western European countries.

5. U.S. officials believe that, barring fatal miscalculations, some way may be found to work out a peaceful end to the present crisis. But nothing Khrushchev has said in recent months indicates a profitable line of negotiation for the West. The Western powers will not negotiate on his terms.

6. The importance of the Berlin crisis for both the Soviet Union and the Western Allies is that it represents a major confrontation of strength and will on each side. A decisive outcome of the dispute over Berlin could have a great deal to do with which side is the ultimate victor in the worldwide cold war.

Berger Guilds Are Applauded

The board of governors, the medical staff and employees of Berger Hospital today acknowledged the fruitful efforts of Berger Hospital Guilds.

Hospital officials said the work, activities and generosity of the ladies on the organizations is truly commendable. They said each Guild project adds to the efficiency of hospital service and patient comfort.

Spokesmen said special holiday favors made by individual Guilds for the patients' food trays and books and toys for children away from home are added considerations that are appreciated by all concerned.

This year two departments received the benefits of the General Guild annual gift. The laboratory received an instrument called "Spectrophotometer" which enables the laboratory technician to do more extensive work when requested by the physician. The maternity unit received a labor room — multi-service bud) which lends comfort and better nursing care for the labor patient.

Berger Superintendent Ellen A. Leist, RN, said the Guild enthusiasm for service is outstanding in its effort to provide better patient care and to aid community welfare. She topped her remarks by saying "hats off to Guilds of Berger Hospital."

Wilson Estate Valued Above $200,000 Mark

John F. Wilson, who maintained his home in Walnut Twp. for many years, left an estate valued in excess of $200,000, an inventory filed in Probate Court noted today.

Wilson, though not often in this area, always considered Pickaway County his home. He dealt heavily in corporate issues and left $208,775.39 in stocks and securities to his heirs.

Accounts and debts receivable totaled $21,699.65 in the inventory and appraisement. Wilson's closest surviving relatives are two sisters, Mrs. Anna M. Hedges of Route 1, Ashville, and Mrs. Sarah Alspaugh of Columbus.

At the peak of its 19th century golden age, Sierra Leone was called the Athens of West Africa.

West Opens

East Germany, it also stopped some 80,000 East Berlin commuters who work in West Berlin.

The Communists said they would announce later the procedure for West Berlin motorists to get their permits to enter East Berlin.

Meanwhile, they allowed West Berliners, about 15,000 of whom work in East Berlin, to drive to their jobs as usual. They passed through the 12 gates still left open.

West German motorists, who have been required to get special permits to enter East Berlin for some time, were funneled through two crossing points on the 25-mile border.

Vehicles of the Western Allied occupation forces were not affected by the new order.

The West Berlin Trade Union Federation asking for something more than protests voted for concrete measures, supporting the call Monday night by Chancellor Konrad Adenauer for trade sanctions against the entire Soviet bloc.

German protestant church leaders, fearing a violent explosion of protest in East Germany, appealed to the East Germans to remain calm.

The appeal, signed by pastor Kurt Scharf, chairman of the Evangelical Church, and Bishop Otto Dibelius of Berlin urged East German protestants "to help peace and call for caution, to exert to love and to spread the faith that overcomes the miseries and problems of life."

Despite the heavy Communist guard patrolling the zonal boundary, West German police reported 42 refugees—including 8 women and 2 children—managed to get across the border during the night. Most of them swam across canals, rivers and lakes that crisscross the border.

The East German government radio broadcast warnings through the night that the Reds will not lift their border restrictions until the West agrees to Soviet Premier Khrushchev's demand for an end to the Allied occupation of West Berlin.

The closing Monday of the Brandenburg Gate, a main crossing point, touched off stone throwing by angry West Berliners and a retaliatory tear gas barrage by Red troops.

As the outburst threatened to turn into a pitched battle, West German police moved in and herded the Western demonstrators back more than a mile from the gate.

East German soldiers armed with machine guns and bayonets stood guard through the night in front of the historic columned gate, one of Berlin's most famous landmarks. Behind them were four horse trucks to deal with any demonstrators. Under the arches were armed personnel carriers and half-tracks, and a few hundred yards off were Soviet-made T34 tanks.

Construction workers at the site of the new Teays Valley High School, near Ashville, are treading the grounds with a great deal of caution these days.

County Superintendent of Schools George McDowell related today a very large and extremely unfriendly rattle snake slithered from a metal pipe being unloaded at the new structure. Workmen gave the dangerous reptile a wide berth and it cooperated by sliding immediately under some materials at the base of the building.

As far as is known — and no one is bothering to check too closely — the rattler is still in the same location. Crews have improvised clubs stationed at readily available spots around the site in case the snake decides to make another entrance.

dominated a foreign policy briefing conference which opened at the State Department Monday and continued through the day. Several top officials including Secretary Rusk appeared before approximately 700 newspaper and radio editors who came here from all over the country.

Under the rules laid down by the State Department, the information provided by officials could be reported but could not be attributed to any individual speakers.

The first round of discussions in the conference developed several points bearing on the Berlin situation and issues involved in it, as assessed by U.S. policy makers:

1. Soviet Premier Khrushchev evidently feels that Soviet rocket and nuclear weapons power has altered the balance of military strength in the world. He feels confident that the Soviet Union should be given its way in the demands he has made on the Western powers to get out of West Berlin.

2. Khrushchev does not want to get involved in a war with the West, however, because of the devastation it would bring to the Soviet Union. So he can be expected to try to alter the status of Berlin by stages rather than to force a military showdown. The danger of war lies in the possibility that he may miscalculate Western determination to stand firm on Berlin and may trigger a conflict almost by accident.

3. The only possible course for the Western powers in this situation is to try to impress on Khrushchev that they will defend their Berlin rights by force if necessary and will not be deterred even by threats of nuclear conflict.

4. Khrushchev's counter to this development of Western policy, as embodied in the strengthening of NATO forces in Western Europe, is to try to split the Western alliance by frightening the European Allies into adopting a softer Berlin policy. Thus he has issued several warnings recently of Soviet power to devastate Western European countries.

5. U.S. officials believe that, barring fatal miscalculations, some way may be found to work out a peaceful end to the present crisis. But nothing Khrushchev has said in recent months indicates a profitable line of negotiation for the West. The Western powers will not negotiate on his terms.

6. The importance of the Berlin crisis for both the Soviet Union and the Western Allies is that it represents a major confrontation of strength and will on each side. A decisive outcome of the dispute over Berlin could have a great deal to do with which side is the ultimate victor in the worldwide cold war.

Berger Guilds Are Applauded

The board of governors, the medical staff and employees of Berger Hospital today acknowledged the fruitful efforts of Berger Hospital Guilds.

Hospital officials said the work, activities and generosity of the ladies on the organizations is truly commendable. They said each Guild project adds to the efficiency of hospital service and patient comfort.

Spokesmen said special holiday favors made by individual Guilds for the patients' food trays and books and toys for children away from home are appreciated by all concerned.

This year two departments received the benefits of the General Guild annual gift. The laboratory received an instrument called "Spectrophotometer" which enables the laboratory technician to do more extensive work when requested by the physician. The maternity unit received a labor room — multi-service bed) which lends comfort and better nursing care for the labor patient.

Berger Superintendent Ellen A. Leist, RN, said the Guild enthusiasm for service is outstanding in its effort to provide better patient care and to aid community welfare. She stopped her remarks by saying "hats" off to Guilds of Berger Hospital."

Wilson Estate Valued Above $200,000 Mark

John F. Wilson, who maintained his home in Walnut Twp. for many years, left an estate valued in excess of $200,000, an inventory filed in Probate Court noted today.

Wilson, though not often in this area, always considered Pickaway County his home. He dealt heavily in corporate issues and left $208,753.39 in stocks and securities to his heirs.

Accounts and debts receivable totaled $21,699.65 in the inventory and appraisal. Wilson's closest surviving relatives are two sisters, Mrs. Anna M. Hedges of Route 1, Ashville, and Mrs. Sarah Alspaugh of Columbus.

West Opens

East Germany, it also stopped some 80,000 East Berlin commuters who work in West Berlin.

The Communists said they would announce later the procedure for West Berlin motorists to get their permits to enter East Berlin.

Meanwhile, they allowed West Berliners, about 15,000 of whom work in East Berlin, to drive to their jobs as usual. They passed through the 12 gates still left open.

West German motorists, who have been required to get special permits to enter East Berlin for some time, were funneled through two crossing points on the 25-mile border.

Vehicles of the Western Allied occupation forces were not affected by the new order.

The West Berlin Trade Union Federation asking for something more than protests voted for concrete measures, supporting the call Monday night by Chancellor Konrad Adenauer for trade sanctions against the entire Soviet bloc.

German protestant church leaders, fearing a violent explosion of protest in East Germany, appealed to the East Germans to remain calm.

The appeal, signed by pastor Kurt Scharf, chairman of the Evangelical Church, and Bishop Otto Dibleius of Berlin urged East German protestants "to help peace and call for caution, to exhort to love and to spread the faith that overcomes the miseries and problems of life."

Despite the heavy Communist guard patrolling the zonal boundary, West German police reported 42 refugees—including 8 women and 2 children — managed to get across the border during the night. Most of them swam across canals, rivers and lakes that crisscross the border.

The East German government radio broadcast warnings through the night that the Reds will not lift their border restrictions until the West agrees to Soviet Premier Khrushchev's demand for an end to the Allied occupation of West Berlin.

The closing Monday of the Brandenburg Gate, a main crossing point, touched off stone throwing by angry West Berliners and a retaliatory tear gas barrage by Red troops.

As the outburst threatened to turn into a pitched battle, West German police moved in and herded the Western demonstrators back more than a mile from the gate.

East German soldiers armed with machine guns and bayonets stood guard through the night in front of the historic columned gate, one of Berlin's most famous landmarks. Behind them were four horse trucks to deal with any demonstrators. Under the arches were armed personnel carriers and half-tracks, and a few hundred yards off were Soviet-made T34 tanks.

The Light Side

Construction workers at the site of the new Teays Valley High School, near Ashville, are treading the grounds with a great deal of caution these days.

County Superintendent of Schools George McDowell related today a very large and extremely unfriendly rattle snake slithered from a metal pipe being unloaded at the new structure. Workmen gave the dangerous reptile a wide berth and it cooperated by sliding immediately under some materials at the base of the building.

As far as is known — and no one is bothering to check too closely — the rattler is still in the same location. Crews have improvised clubs stationed at readily available spots around the site in case the snake decides to make another entrance.

On a resisting arrest complaint filed by city police, Seaton entered a plea of innocent. Judge Lamb found him guilty as charged and fined him $50 and costs.

Seaton also was found guilty despite a plea of innocence on a charge of malicious destruction of property filed by Robert Shepherd, 357 Barnes Ave.

Shepherd said Seaton destroyed a set of fender mirrors and door mirrors valued at $6 and attached to Shepherd's automobile. Judge Lamb levied a fine of $50 and costs, gave Seaton a 10-day suspended sentence in the county jail and placed the offender on probation for one year provided he make restitution for the damaged property.

Gray House, Tropical Eden Awaiting U.S. Experiment

EDITOR'S NOTE — A tropical Eden, but plenty of hard work, awaits the Peace Corpsmen bound shortly for the Philippines. There they'll help rural schools, and seem assured of a cordial reception. This is the first of four articles on various countries where the corps is about to start its mission.

Anti-Cancer Immunization To Be Sought

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Can people be immunized against cancer?

A soon-to-be-started project at Ohio Penitentiary here will put that question to a test, according to the OP News, inmate publication.

The newspaper reported Sunday that the next phase of cancer experiments at the prison will involve vaccinations.

It quoted Dr. Chester Southam of Sloan - Kettering Institute, co-conductor of the experiment, as saying: "There is a small chance, the one in a million, that such vaccinations will immunize against cancer."

He added, "Please stress the fact that we are not very optimistic. If I were a horse," he grinned, "I would bet against me."

Dr. Southam said there will be a call for a large group of convict volunteers and that these will be no danger to those inmates being vaccinated. The results, he added, won't be known for a long time.

Southam told the OP News, "we may eventually find that we must vaccinate against cancer—if the vaccination is successful — while the subject is still in the infant stage. It may be too late for those of us who are adults."

Meanwhile, the ninth phase of the five-year-old cancer experiments got under way this weekend at the penitentiary when 23 more volunteers were injected with live cancer cells. Scientists are trying to determine what effect, if any, the forearm injections will have.

The last report from prison officials, in June, was that none of the volunteers had contracted cancer.

Luzon, there is a gray frame house which will soon become the landmark of a great new experiment in American foreign aid.

It awaits four members of the Peace Corps.

They are coming to the Philippines to begin operations on one of the corp's first projects. The first contingent is scheduled to arrive in October. Early in November, four of these—as yet unnamed—will be assigned to Santo Domingo, population 15,000.

They will enter a tropical Eden. But the house where the four will live is something less than Eden.

It is a two-story dwelling with weather-grayed walls. It has no electricity, no gas, no water. Public utilities have not yet come to Santo Domingo.

The bath is a shed in the garden, fed by hand-pumped water piped in by a length of split bamboo. In the kitchen, there are clay vessels and a wood fire for cooking. The rooms are large but nearly bare of furniture. The roof is thatched with nipa. There are no screens on the windows. "The wind from the sea is too strong here for mosquitoes," a Santo Domingan tells you.

Why these living conditions? "It is the intention of the Peace Corps," says a brochure, "that a volunteer will live on a standard similar to that of his counterpart in the host country."

The "counterparts" of the Americans are the Filipino teachers in the elementary schools. Provincial supervisors of schools will assign corpsmen to the towns and small barrios (villages). There, they will work with the Filipino teachers—largely but not entirely to help as instructors of English.

The Filipino teachers in Albay Province receive a little over 200 pesos a month in salary. The Americans will receive exactly 200 pesos, paid by the U.S. government.

There are about 40 children in the average classroom—somewhat crowded but not seriously so. They watch the teacher with eager, button-bright eyes. When a question is asked, dozens of hands go up.

learning English.

In the schools, along with the three-R's, they are taught manners and conduct, health, elementary science, music and writing—and English. They are desperately anxious to learn English.

This, primarily, is where the four Peace Corps volunteers come into the picture.

They will not actually teach the language. Of the 150 in the first contingent, only a few have teaching experience, Peace Corps official Stanley Baranson said.

They will organize playground games and musical groups, hold little seminars about the United States and other parts of the globe, converse in the classrooms with the regular teachers.

In these ways, the children will hear English as it is pronounced by Americans.

The government of the Philippines wants English to become the "second language" of the people. It is by no means widely used, nor well, despite the many years that Americans have lived and worked in the islands.

So, spreading English through the country is the first objective of the Peace Corp's first project in the world.

2 Men Are Fined, Jailed on Theft Counts

A pair of Columbus men arrested by city police early Saturday morning following a series of hub-cap thefts within the area were given stiff fines and jail terms yesterday in Municipal Court.

Judge Sterling M. Lamb sentenced Richard Winkler, 18, and his companion, Larry Hicks, 20, to pay fines of $150 and serve 30 days in jail on each of two counts of petit larceny.

Judge Lamb suspended 15 days of each jail sentence. At the end of their jail terms, the men will be placed on probation for a year. Winkler also was given a fine of $50 and costs for having no valid operator's license. The sentences are to run consecutively.

Draft Quota Doubled

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's September draft quota is 1,515 men, all for the Army. This is almost double the August draft call of 791 and almost triple the quota of 511 in September 1960.

A PAIR of juveniles apprehended with the two men will be turned over to the Franklin County authorities today or tomorrow for disposition, Juvenile Court spokesmen this morning.

In other major court action, James Woodrow Hardy, Columbus, was fined $150 sentenced to three days in jail and had his driver's license suspended for six months on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated.

Floyd C. Sayne forfeited a $24 bond for defacing highway markings which were properly barricaded.

Gray House, Tropical Eden Awaiting U.S. Experiment

EDITOR'S NOTE — A tropical Eden, but plenty of hard work, awaits the Peace Corpsmen bound shortly for the Philippines. There they'll help rural schools, and seem assured of a cordial reception. This is the first of four articles on various countries where the corps is about to start its mission.

Anti-Cancer Immunization To Be Sought

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Can people be immunized against cancer?

A soon-to-be-started project at Ohio Penitentiary here will put that question to a test, according to the OP News, inmate publication.

The newspaper reported Sunday that the next phase of cancer experiments at the prison will involve vaccinations.

It quoted Dr. Chester Southam of Sloan-Kettering Institute, co-conductor of the experiment, as saying: "There is a small chance, the one in a million, that such vaccinations will immunize against cancer."

He added, "Please stress the fact that we are not very optimistic. If I were a horse," he grinned, "I would bet against me."

Dr. Southam said there will be a call for a large group of convict volunteers and that these will be no danger to those inmates being vaccinated. The results, he added, won't be known for a long time.

Southam told the OP News, "we may eventually find that we must vaccinate against cancer—if the vaccination is successful—while the subject is still in the infant stage. It may be too late for those of us who are adults."

Meanwhile, the ninth phase of the five-year-old cancer experiments got under way this week-end at the penitentiary when 23 more volunteers were injected with live cancer cells. Scientists are trying to determine what effect, if any, the forearm injections will have.

The last report from prison officials, in June, was that none of the volunteers had contracted cancer.

Luzon, there is a gray frame house which will soon become the landmark of a great new experiment in American foreign aid.

It awaits four members of the Peace Corps.

They are coming to the Philippines to begin operations on one of the corp's first projects. The first contingent is scheduled to arrive in October. Early in November, four of these—as yet unnamed—will be assigned to Santo Domingo, population 15,000.

They will enter a tropical Eden. But the house where the four will live is something less than Eden.

It is a two-story dwelling with weather-grayed walls. It has no electricity, no gas, no water. Public utilities have not yet come to Santo Domingo.

The bath is a shed in the garden, fed by hand-pumped water piped in by a length of split bamboo. In the kitchen, there are clay vessels and a wood fire for cooking. The rooms are large but nearly bare of furniture. The roof is thatched with nipa. There are no screens on the windows. "The wind from the sea is too strong here for mosquitoes," a Santo Domingan tells you.

Why these living conditions? "It is the intention of the Peace Corps," says a brochure, "that a volunteer will live on a standard similar to that of his counterpart in the host country."

The "counterparts" of the Americans are the Filipino teachers in the elementary schools. Provincial supervisors of schools will assign corpsmen to the towns and small barrios (villages). There, they will work with the Filipino teachers—largely but not entirely to help as instructors of English.

The Filipino teachers in Albay Province receive a little over 200 pesos a month in salary. The Americans will receive exactly 206 pesos, paid by the U.S. government.

There are about 40 children in the average classroom—somewhat crowded but not seriously so. They watch the teacher with eager, button-bright eyes. When a question is asked, dozens of hands go up.

In the first two years of school, Tagalog or some regional dialect is the language of instruction. Then, in the third year, they start learning English.

In the schools, along with the three-R's, they are taught manners and conduct, health, elementary science, music and writing—and English. They are desperately anxious to learn English.

This, primarily, is where the four Peace Corps volunteers come into the picture.

They will not actually teach the language. Of the 150 in the first contingent, only a few have teaching experience, Peace Corps official Stanley Baranson said.

They will organize playground games and musical groups, hold little seminars about the United States and other parts of the globe, converse in the classrooms with the regular teachers.

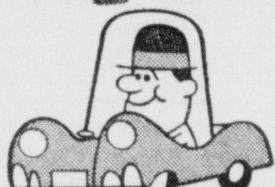

In these ways, the children will hear English as it is pronounced by Americans.

The government of the Philippines wants English to become the "second language" of the people. It is by no means widely used, nor well, despite the many years that Americans have lived and worked in the islands.

So, spreading English through the country is the first objective of the Peace Corp's first project in the world.

Doubtful Benefits

It is one thing to store hermetically sealed cans of ready to eat or easily prepared foodstuffs for use in event of a nuclear attack. But where storing of wheat in grain form would help is more difficult to understand.

Even to make coarse bread requires grinding, addition of other ingredients and baking. Grinding also is necessary to make an elemental rough porridge. Adding water to wheat and boiling turns up a gelatinous mass that persons would eat only in extreme hunger.

Wheat is the nation's largest and most expensive stored surplus. By making the transfer from interior terminals to coastal areas and the 68 prime industry target areas, Secretary Freeman could shift a great part of his agricultural budget to the civil defense budget. That seems at first glance the primary benefit of the proposal.

Fish Can Get Seaside, Too

By Hal Boyle

Pity the poor fish in a long and violent storm. They get seasick, just as people do. But they have no pills to cure them—or make them feel better.

Some seeds have a built-in immortality. For example, the seeds of the lotus lily have germinated and grown after being buried a thousand years.

Would it work here? A bus line in Tokyo operates on the "honor system". Passengers drop their own fares in a collection box, and are free to help themselves to change, if necessary.

But you didn't know that: The five Great Lakes contain about half of the earth's supply of fresh water. A dragonfly has more than 30,000 eyes. And people with dark brown eyes suffer most in the dentist's chair.

The "Voice of America" is one of the few government agencies that works a 24-hour day. It broadcasts around the clock seven days a week.

Things do change. Your grandfather probably never let a summer day go by without swatting a fly. But how long has it been since you swatted a fly? (I can't remember.)

Our quotable notables: "Honest statesmanship," said Abraham Lincoln, "is the wise employment of individual meanness for the public good."

The president wedded at the youngest age was Andrew Johnson. He married Eliza McCord when he was only 18 years and 127 days old. Of five U.S. presidents who remarried, Theodore Roosevelt did so at the earliest age. He was 28 years and 36 days old when Edith Kermit Carow became his second wife.

Safety note: Throughout the year, nine persons are killed every two hours in highway accidents. But on holidays—such as the 4th of July—10 die every two hours.

One of the pleasant things about living longer today is that you have plenty of company. America now has nearly a million persons 85 or older. (Life expectancy since 1920 has leaped from 54.1 to 69.7 years.)

Why the farmer complains: In 1960 he got only 39 cents of the dollar the average consumer spent on food.

Civilized man has emerged from the forest but is still dependent on it. He makes some 5,000 products from wood, and the average American each year uses 438 pounds of paper and 224 board feet of lumber.

Wise crack of the week: Walter Slezak believes U.S. wives need some new recipes. He says most of those they have now begin with the word "defrost."

Canadians are the world's talk-inest people. Over the telephone they average 530 calls a year, compared to 508 for the residents of Iceland and 496 for Americans. Ireland came slowly to Robert E. Lee, one of our greatest military geniuses. He held the rank of captain for 21 years.

Even a light rain is pretty heavy. A one-inch rainfall deposits 113 tons of water per acre.

It was Thomas A. Edison who observed, "Everything comes to him who hustles while he waits."

The Way of Cowards

By George Sokolsky

I recently received an unsigned post-card which speaks for itself: "Sir:

"You made a real war - mongering speech today. Be sure to omit my son when you volunteer our sons!"

"When did you last fight a war?" "I'd sign this but you'd say I'm a 'Red.' Amen."

This post-card comes from Newark, New Jersey, and refers to a radio talk I gave on the nature of the present war. What the card represents is a blend of cowardice, lack of patriotism, self-centered selfishness.

The man who failed to sign his post-card is by nature cowardly. It would not call him a "Red." Most of the Communists I have known were daring men who risked their lives for what they believed to be true. Lenin, Trotsky, Bukharin, and all the makers of the Revolution were courageous.

The Newark anonymous post-card writer is more dangerous than a Communist, because he is a coward and cannot be counted on in a crisis. Whoever he is, he offers nothing to the country that has given him opportunity and freedom.

To avoid invidious comparisons, my sons have done more than the law requires. We do not tolerate cowards in our breed.

This is a moral question which grows in significance as we come closer to peril. The cowards are stumbling blocks. They have voted and their votes have imperiled the survival of our country.

As desirable as a free system of government is, both in the United States and Great Britain, cowards have sought to impede the defenses of both countries. It is too easy to attribute these evils to Communism and Communist machinations. Some of it is due to selfish fear, to an unwillingness to serve, to a lack of understanding of the American way of life.

No one need remain in this country; exit is unhampered. This is not true in Soviet Russia. Therefore, the person who finds himself uncomfortable under our system of government or who prefers another should pursue the advantage of freedom of choice and do what my father and millions of others did, find a better place to live than where they were born.

For the coward who does not want me to volunteer his son, I suggest Soviet Russia as a very suitable place to live. Then his son would not be asked to volunteer for anything. He would be told and he would do as he is told. There cowardice is not recognized as a right or are conscientious objectors given a chance to drive an ambulance.

Whoever is not ready to perform what the government demands of him is a counter-revolutionist, a criminal against the state and party and is punished adequately. There is no choice.

If he does not like Soviet Russia, I strongly recommend Red China. That is a country ruled by a philosopher who also writes poetry. To Mao Tse-tung a person is a creature of the state, a mechanism to carry out the purposes of his party. His land and wife have only such relations as the state may from time to time find necessary. Children are separated so that their loyalty may not be retained by the family but would be focused on the state. Who needs a father or a mother if he can think of Mao Tse-tung as both?

There one can be part of the permanent revolution and their wonderful human rights would be held in tutelage not by the Kuomintang as Sun Yat-sen designed but by the Communist Party which conquered and overruled the Chinese people.

Or if our coward does not like that, we can find a place for him in the Congo. There segregation is practiced but it is the white man who is segregated, pushed aside, and often killed. Or maybe this Newark coward would prefer Cuba — well, he can hijack a plane and land in Havana, a thief to be honored for his thievery and treachery.

But why go further? I shall be told that it is immoral to say "Go back where you come from," and it is often geographically incorrect because the coward may have originated in Newark and he is still there and he has nowhere to go to.

But we need to have watchmen at our gates these days, careful, dedicated watchmen who recognize the coward who would sell our land for his personal safety. The time is running out when we can continue to risk his presence.

Ohio Juvenile Judges Oppose Quota System

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Juvenile judges have protested Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's plan for quotas on admissions to end overcrowding at Lancaster Boys Industrial School and the School for Girls at Delaware.

Judge Don J. Young of Huron County, president of the judges association, headed a group of nine jurists who met with the governor at a sometimes-heated session.

The judges urged more time for a group to study the situation or a call for a special session of the legislature to deal with the problem.

DiSalle blamed overcrowding at the institutions on failure of the legislature to provide adequate funds. He said a freeze on admissions would begin in about a week and that quotas would be assigned to counties for commitments after overcrowding was eliminated.

The Lancaster school, with a capacity of 500, now has about 900 inmates. The Delaware school is about 100 over its capacity of 200. The judges protested that a quota system presents a difficult problem for counties which would have to send juvenile delinquents to private institutions or make other arrangements for them. Judge Benjamin Schwartz of Hamilton County said judges want-

RAILROAD STATIONS look more and more dilapidated in these days of disappearing passenger trains. Tom Moody tells about a millionaire who bought a large estate near one of these whistle stop stations on a neglected branch line. From a mail order house he ordered a prefabricated chicken coop and when he received word that it had arrived, set out in a truck with his butler to bring it home.

No one was about when he spied the coop along the right of way, and he soon had it loaded in his truck. Half a mile up the road they passed a little man in blue who had "Station Master" written on his cap. "Stop that car," ordered the little man angrily. "What do you think you got on that truck?" "My new chicken coop," explained the millionaire. "Chicken coop, my eye!" cried the station master. "That's Grigsby Junction."

Biorhythm could have won you a big fat bankroll recently!

With 7 to 1 odds favoring Ingemar Johansson, biorhythm "proved" that he didn't stand a fighting chance.

Three biorhythm cycles begin ticking away at birth. For 11½ days, strapping strength flows through your veins. During the next 11½ invisible transfusions recharge your fading power. Recharge after the whole 23-day cycle, you start over.

Your mood varies, too. But its cycle runs 28 days. Gay and high for 14 days, you sink into a depression for the second 14.

Even fast minds take 33 days to complete the intelligence cycle, slowing down to recharge during the second 16½ days.

During the recharging period, you simply guard against overtaxing your limited ability. But the middle and last day of each biorhythm cycle is critical — you're changing from souped-up to recharge or back again. If two or all three cycles are changing together, watch out!

On a critical intelligence day, read all the fine print before making any big deal. Don't try for a track record when physical stamina is critical.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—With the Berlin crisis coming to a boil, an old bugaboo of business and labor and the stock market is being revived: The chance of government controls again over wages, prices, production and, therefore, profits.

It's the other side of the coin of the buildup in U.S. defenses. So far this buildup—which a misstep in Berlin could either speed up or magnify—has given bounce to the stock market and improved the outlook for many companies whose order books could be fattened.

But if the defense buildup goes further than so far scheduled, controls might again become a political issue. And that prospect worries those who point to past experiences to back their contention that controls hamper more than they help.

The difficulty could arise again if a speedup in defense production runs into industrial bottlenecks. The administration then could ask Congress for controls. At first glance industry seems to be in prime shape to take the defense buildup in stride.

But even in the apparently smooth-running economy the possibility of trouble is with us.

A strike in the auto industry, with its many ties to the defense effort, could cause a military bottleneck. And the flareup in Berlin could be an added reason for Washington to intervene to avoid or halt such a strike.

Washington already has the power to set priorities and allocations of stocks of materials needed in specific defense projects. It also has large stocks of materials needed for defense production which it could use if normal sources proved inadequate for any reason.

In the Commerce Department, the Business and Defense Services Administration can guide most essential materials to plants needing them to fill defense orders.

All this seems to guarantee that under present conditions there will be little need for further controls.

But two possibilities give business and labor pause.

One is the fear—whether justified or not—that the Berlin dispute can get out of hand, even though neither the American nor the Russian people want war. Any big jump in armament buildups which might result could lead to bottlenecks and to a demand for wider government controls.

The second is that the stepup in industrial activity now expected for the fall could gain enough momentum to inspire a marked rise in basic prices and a resultant demand for a big jump in wage scales.

This inflationary threat could lead to a move for that most disliked of government controls: The freeze on prices and wages.

Business circles more and more talk about the chances of it.

Bet you didn't know that: The five Great Lakes contain about half of the earth's supply of fresh water. A dragonfly has more than 30,000 eyes. And people with dark brown eyes suffer most in the dentist's chair.

The "Voice of America" is one of the few government agencies that works a 24-hour day. It broadcasts around the clock seven days a week.

Things do change. Your grandfather probably never let a summer day go by without swatting a fly. But how long has it been since you swatted a fly? (I can't remember.)

Our quotable notables: "Honest statesmanship," said Abraham Lincoln, "is the wise employment of individual meanness for the public good."

The president wedded at the youngest age was Andrew Johnson. He married Eliza McCordle when he was only 18 years and 127 days old. Of five U.S. presidents who remarried, Theodore Roosevelt did so at the earliest age. He was 28 years and 36 days old when Edith Kermit Carow became his second wife.

Safety note: Throughout the year, nine persons are killed every two hours in highway accidents. But on holidays—such as the 4th of July—10 die every two hours.

One of the pleasant things about living longer today is that you have plenty of company. America now has nearly a million persons 85 or older. (Life expectancy since 1920 has leaped from 54.1 to 69.7 years.)

Why the farmer complains: In 1960 he got only 39 cents of the dollar the average consumer spent on food.

Civilized man has emerged from the forest but is still dependent on it. He makes some 5,000 products from wood, and the average American each year uses 438 pounds of paper and 224 board feet of lumber.

Wise crack of the week: Walter Slezak believes U.S. wives need some new recipes. He says most of those they have now begin with the word "defrost."

Canadians are the world's talk-inest people. Over the telephone they average 530 calls a year, compared to 508 for the residents of Iceland and 496 for Americans. Promotion came slowly to Robert E. Lee, one of our greatest military geniuses. He held the rank of captain for 21 years.

Even a light rain is pretty heavy. A one-inch rainfall deposits 113 tons of water per acre.

It was Thomas A. Edison who observed, "Everything comes to him who hustles while he waits."

The Way of Cowards

By George Sokolsky

I recently received an unsigned post-card which speaks for itself: "Sir:

"You made a real war - mongering speech today. Be sure to omit my son when you volunteer our sons!"

"When did you last fight a war?" "I'd sign this but you'd say I'm a 'Red.' Amen."

This post-card comes from Newark, New Jersey, and refers to a radio talk I gave on the nature of the present war. What the card represents is a blend of cowardice, lack of patriotism, self-centered selfishness.

The man who failed to sign his post-card is by nature cowardly. I would not call him a "Red." Most of the Communists I have known were daring men who risked their lives for what they believed to be true. Lenin, Trotsky, Bukharin, and all the makers of the Revolution were courageous.

The Newark anonymous post-card writer is more dangerous than a Communist because he is a coward and cannot be counted on in a crisis. Whoever he is, he offers nothing to the country that has given him opportunity and freedom.

To avoid invidious comparisons, my sons have done more than the law requires. We do not tolerate cowards in our breed.

This is a moral question which grows in significance as we come closer to peril. The cowards are stumbling blocks. They have voted and their votes have imperiled the survival of our country.

As desirable as a free system of government is, both in the United States and Great Britain, cowards have sought to impede the defenses of both countries. It is too easy to attribute these evils to Communism and Communist machinations. Some of it is due to selfish fear, to an unwillingness to serve, to a lack of understanding of the American way of life.

No one need remain in this country; exit is unhampered. This is not true in Soviet Russia. Therefore, the person who finds himself uncomfortable under our system of government or who prefers another should pursue the advantage of freedom of choice and do what my father and millions of others did, find a better place to live than where they were born.

For the coward who does not want me to volunteer his son, I suggest Soviet Russia as a very suitable place to live. Then his son would not be asked to volunteer for anything. He would be told that he would do as he is told. There cowardice is not recognized as a right or are conscientious objectors given a chance to drive an ambulance.

Whoever is not ready to perform what the government demands of him is a counter-revolutionist, a criminal against the state and party and is punished adequately. There is no choice.

If he does not like Soviet Russia, I strongly recommend Red China. That is a country ruled by a philosopher who also writes poetry. To Mao Tse-tung a person is a creature of the state, a mechanism to carry out the purposes of his party. His land and wife have only such relations as the state may from time to time find necessary. Children are separated so that their loyalty may not be retained by the family but would be focused on the state. Who needs a father or a mother if he can think of Mao Tse-tung as both?

There one can be part of the permanent revolution and their wonderful human rights would be held in tutelage not by the Kuomintang as Sun Yat-sen designed but by the Communist Party which conquered and overruled the Chinese people.

Or if our coward does not like that, we can find a place for him

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Premier Khrushchev—from his view—had two good reasons for slamming shut the gate on East Germans trying to flee into West Berlin.

There might be a kickback—for instance, the Allies were talking today of invoking economic sanctions against the East German Communists, like shutting off trade—but he could chance it.

He has to be credited with figuring the Allies might retaliate that way. The fact that he shut the gate indicates he thought his reasons for doing so outweighed what the Allies might do.

These were the reasons:

1. The flood of refugees to the West was draining out of Communist East Germany many of its most talented, skilled and badly needed people.

2. The sudden brake on the refugees might, if Khrushchev was lucky, split the Allies just when they couldn't afford to be split.

What Khrushchev has done now has to be considered along with what he had threatened to do later because, where there was only one Berlin problem before, there are two problems now.

Starting last June he had threatened before the year's end to turn over to the East German Reds control of those routes over which the Allies supply their garrisons in West Berlin.

Berlin lies 110 miles inside East Germany. But the Western part of Berlin, with its 2½ million people, is linked to West Germany. This island of capitalism in the East German Communist sea has been a bleeding sore to Khrushchev.

So the move he planned to make before year's end was just the first step in a series, perhaps spread over years, to shut West Berlin off from the West altogether. No realistic person could think otherwise.

The Allies certainly think so, for they decided to stand firmly together to resist any move by Khrushchev to weaken their West Berlin link. This kind of solidarity is not what he wanted.

What he would want, ideally, of course, would be indecision and disagreement among the Allies on preserving their West Berlin rights. But he raised such a rumpus, made such threats, that East Germans began to flee to the West.

This he may not have expected. So he moved to stop them from leaving. But in so doing he created a brand new Berlin problem for the Allies. Not West Berlin this time but the freedom of people to move into and out of West Berlin.

Then the Allies began to talk of economic sanctions. But just how far the Allies are willing to go in this direction remains to be seen. If they split on this, the fracture may extend to their previous determination not to let Khrushchev get away with his threats about West Berlin later this year.

If that happens it will be so much gravy for Khrushchev since he had found it necessary, no

Home To Be Probed For Lead Poisoning

CINCINNATI (AP)—Cincinnati Health Commissioner Dr. Kenneth I. E. MacLeod today was to inspect the home of 2-year-old Victoria Benford, in critical condition with lead poisoning. Dr. MacLeod Monday inspected the home of John B. Cash, also 2, and ordered plaster and paint samples taken. The Cash boy died of lead poisoning Sunday—the second Cincinnati child to die of this cause in 1961.

matter what else followed, to stop the refugees from leaving East Germany.

The East German Communist regime seems a bit rocky. But a revolt of the non-Communist East Germans not only seems out of the question but would be a disaster for the West. For these reasons:

1. The Russians have enough troops in East Germany to put a fast and bloody end to revolution.

2. The West couldn't go to their help unless it was ready to go to war with the Soviet Union.

Navy Orders Duty Freeze

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy announced Monday it will freeze on continued active duty about 26,800 enlisted men and officers who otherwise would be leaving active service.

These men will be held on duty for periods varying from six months to a year.

The order is part of the military buildup program and is designed to help the Navy expand toward a new authorized strength of 657,000 from a present level of about 626,000.

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—James Kauffman, 16, of Niles was charged as a delinquent Monday in connection with the fatal stabbing of his uncle, Lester Jaymes, 56.

Stoer-Styer Vows Exchanged In Church at Mt. Sterling

MRS. RICHARD STYER

At 2:30 p. m. Sunday before an altar flanked with white and purple gladiolas, purple asters and a seven branch candelabra, Miss Barbara Ann Stoer became the bride of Mr. Richard Styer.

The Rev. Charles Lutz performed the ceremony at the Congregational Christian Church, Mt. Sterling.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loring Stoer, Orient. Mr. Styer is the son of Mrs. Kathleen Styer, Columbus and Mr. Leon Styer, Toledo.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a princess line floor length gown of antique silk, fashioned with a scooped neckline and edged with seeded pearls and shirred elbow sleeves.

Her crown of seed pearls held a three-tier finger tip veil of illusion. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid with a purple throat and Stephanotis. Her only jewelry was a pearl pendant surrounded by diamonds, a gift of the groom.

Mrs. George Tomlinson, Columbus, served as matron-of-honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Fonda Liston, Mt. Sterling, and Miss Connie Norris, Grove City.

For a wedding trip to Canada, the new Mrs. Styer chose a green sheath dress of Polyester silk with beige accessories and carved ivory jewelry, a gift from India. She wore the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of Monroe High School and is employed by Grange Mutual Insurance Company, Columbus.

DEAR ABBY: My TV set started to act up, and I couldn't get the channel I had the most use for, so I called a TV repairman who lives near me. I thought he was a good family man.

He looked at the set and I told him, before he started to fix anything, I had to know how much it was going to cost me. He said that all depended on how nice I was to him. I thought he was kidding, so I let him take the set to his shop.

I called him five times in two weeks and asked him when he was bringing my set back. He said, "When you tell me your husband isn't home." I told him it was strictly business, but he hasn't returned my set yet. Should I call his wife or tell my husband? What does a respectable woman do in a case like that?

Tiger Grid Candidates Get Checkups Tonight

More than 80 prospective Circleville High School football candidates are expected to attend a physical examination period starting 7 p. m. today in the CHS gymnasium, head coach Carl Benhase has announced.

All boys planning to try out for the grid squad must be checked at tonight's session, the mentor emphasized.

Saturday Fete Slated by YBP

Youthful Athletes Will Get Awards

A family picnic starting at 6 p. m. will open festivities for the third annual Circleville Youth Baseball Program, Inc., Awards Night Saturday at Ted Lewis Park.

Parents, other relatives and friends of players have been extended a special invitation for the open-to-the-public fete. Refreshments to complete meals will be available at the Mother's Club booth in the park.

After the paper plates and plastic spoons have been discarded, Roy S. Farmer, Program president, will give a few welcoming remarks about 8 p. m.

Officers and directors of the summer youth sports operation will be recognized and the Little League and Babe Ruth League all star teams and managers are to be accorded special recognition.

HIGHLIGHTING the program will be the presentation of trophies to championship clubs in three of the four YBP-operated leagues.

The Elks outfit will claim the Little Major League first place award. DuPont tapped the Babe Ruth Major pennant and L. M. Butch Co.'s squad won the BR minor loop race.

No trophy will be given in the Little Minor League according to James I. Smith III, Program secretary-treasurer. League records became jumbled and a champion could not be determined. Several managers rejected a proposed playoff to decide a first position team.

Individual certificates of achievement will be awarded each player deemed eligible by his club manager. To receive a certificate, each player must return his uniform to the team manager before 8 p. m. Saturday.

All coaches have been asked to return equipment issued to their teams, along with the uniforms, between 10 a. m. and noon Saturday to the main shelterhouse in Ted Lewis Park.

Fissell, Van Camp Entries Spotlited In Ross Co. Races

A pair of Circleville harness favorites won double heat victories in the final day of racing at the Ross County Fair Saturday in Chillicothe.

Ned Gold, owned by George A. Fissell, 705 N. Pickaway St., steamed to two convincing triumphs in the 28-class pace with clockings of 2:12.2 and 2:12.4.

T. D. Van Camp's Chita Can took both ends of the two-year-old pace. Times were 2:17 and 2:14.2. Both horses were piloted by Jack Betts, honored as the driver with the most wins in the three-day meet.

Fissell's pacer claimed a $500 purse while the Van Camp run was for the same sum.

Golfer George Bayer, one of the game's longest hitters, wears size 14D shoes.

Oilers Clip Ironton By 6-1 Margin in Tournament Finals

A keyed-up Chillicothe River Oil team steamrolled past Ironton Chamberlin by a 6-1 count before an overflow crowd last night at Ted Lewis Park to clinch the 1961 District 8 Ohio amateur softball crown.

The Ross County powerhouse unit had to overcome an early Chamberlin thrust good for a one-run lead in claiming the much-sought championship.

Zornes drew a walk for Ironton with one man down in the top of the first inning. DeWitz waited out River hurler Schraw then stepped into a 3-2 toss and rammed an RBI single through the infield.

Schraw settled down to fan the next two batters and leave DeWitz stranded at second.

AT THE outset it looked like Chamberlin moundsman Eches was out to duplicate his 1-0 Saturday night semifinal whitewashing of Calvary Lutheran Church. After leadoff man Bumgarner reached base on a fielding muff by shortstop McKnight, Eches set the next six hitters down in order.

The Irontons could do no better with Schraw's handouts, as he whiffed three of the six men he faced in the second and third frames.

The bottom dropped out of Chamberlin's try for a pennant grab in the last of the third as Eches hurling brilliance faded and Oil sluggers brought up the seige guns.

Von Clausing opened the assault with a booming one-base shot. Schraw chipped in with a sacrifice that moved the leadoff man to second. Bumgarner tied things up with a single that plated Von Clausing and Shonkweiler clubbed a one-bagger to break the deadlock.

Cousins drew a free pass and Manion sent Shonkweiler flying home with the third Chillicothe tally on a sacrifice fly deep to left field.

The oilers were held in check in the fourth, but broke loose for two more scores in the fifth as Schraw, Bumgarner and Cousins unloaded singles.

MYERS got to Schraw for Chamberlin's only other safety in the top of the seventh after a pair of substitutes, Larrimar and Jacobs, has completed River Oil's eight-single barrage with a pair of one-baggers and Schraw had sacrificed to bring in Conaway with Chillicothe's final run.

The ace Oil pitcher struck out A. Zornes to end the tilt and ice the flag decision.

At-bats, runs and hits by players for the champions were: Bumgarner (4-2-2); Shonkweiler (3-1-1); Cousins (2-0-1); Manion (2-0-0); DeLong (3-0-0); Bell (2-0-0); Larimar (1-0-1); Conaway (3-1-0); Jacobs (1-0-1); Von Clausing (2-1-1); and Schraw (1-1-1).

DeWitz and Myers got Ironton's only hits — singles — and R. Zornes scored the only run.

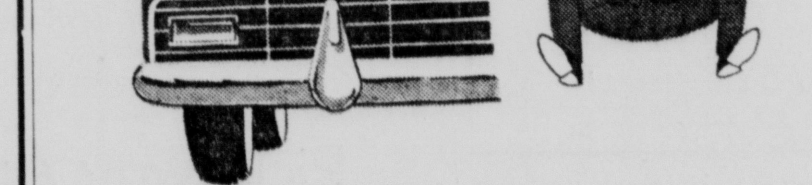

The new titlists will go the Clyde later this month to begin a drive for the state flag and a berth in regional and national finals play.

There are 12 thoroughbred race tracks in Maryland but only three Boure, Laurel and Pimlico — are one mile ovals.

Yankees Poised For Assault On Records

Ford Eyes Pitching Mark; Home Run Bats To Seek New Highs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It may read New York vs. Chicago in the American League schedule, but it's really Whitey Ford, Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris vs. the records tonight when the first-place Yankees open a three-game home stand against the White Sox.

Ford, the stubby southpaw who is the majors' lone 20-game winner at the moment, is shooting for his 15th consecutive victory. That would be a Yankee record. Whitey tied the club high of 14, set by Jack Chesbro in 1904, when he beat Los Angeles last Thursday for a 20-2 record.

No American League pitcher has won 15 in a row in 24 years — not since Johnny Allen did it for Cleveland in 1937.

Mantle and Maris each need 16 home runs to break Babe Ruth's record 60 of 1927. Each has clubbed 45, putting them 15 games ahead of Ruth's pace. Maris could join a tight little cluster of clouters who have hit 46 or more in one season in the AL. Only six have done it: Ruth, Jimmy Fox, Hank Greenberg, Lou Gehrig, Joe DiMaggio, and Mantle.

The Mick, who hit 52 in 1956, could join Ruth (nine times), Gehrig (four) and Fox (three) as the only sluggers who have hit 46 or more at least twice in their careers.

Maris also has a shot at the major league record for most home runs hit against one club in one season. Gehrig set the mark with 14 against Cleveland in 1936. Maris already has hit 10 against the White Sox, and the Yankees have 6 games remaining against Chicago.

Meanwhile, back in the bunch, Minnesota beat Kansas City 6-2, and Los Angeles whipped Washington 5-1 Monday night in the only AL games scheduled.

In the National League, St. Louis stopped Los Angeles 5-0 on Ernie Broglio's five-hitter and shaved the Dodgers' lead over idle Cincinnati to two games. Milwaukee beat Pittsburgh 8-3, and Chicago rapped Philadelphia 9-2.

Another M-boy—not a Mantle or Maris, but Roman Mejias of Columbus — is swinging the most potent home run bat of his career to help keep his team on top of the league.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — More than 100,000 people are expected to show up at the Coliseum the next two nights, hoping to discover whether the Cincinnati Reds can still be taken seriously — or just taken, period.

A crowd of 50,000 is expected tonight, when the Reds will start right-hander Joey Jay (16-7) against Dodger southpaw Sandy Koufax (13-7) in the opener of the three-game series. Two games will be played Wednesday night.

CLEVELAND (AP) — If events this week run according to form, the Cleveland Indians' next two opponents should offer quite a contrast.

The contrast should be in the hitting department. The Indians meet the Boston Red Sox long to start a three-game series. Friday night the Tribe looks horns with the awesome New York Yankees and Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle.

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP) — The dean of American sports figures, Amos Alonzo Stagg, celebrates his 90th birthday Wednesday, fondly recalling 70 years in football.

His shoulders now stooped, his eyesight impaired, but his mind quick, the grand old man agreed that football had kept him young and he doubts he could have devoted the 70 active years to any other pursuit.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Jimmy Thistle, owned and driven by Ed Lear of Plain City, took the lead at the three-quarter pole and won the featured seventh race for C-2 pacers at Scioto Downs Monday night.

Scioto Drops Monroe

Scioto handed Monroe its first defeat in the Pick-Fair Pony League recently by a 3-2 margin. Wilkins got credit for the win as Monroe's tallies were unearned.

Saturday Fete Slated by YBP

Youthful Athletes Will Get Awards

A family picnic starting at 6 p. m. will open festivities for the third annual Circleville Youth Baseball Program, Inc., Awards Night Saturday at Ted Lewis Park.

Parents, other relatives and friends of players have been extended a special invitation for the open-to-the-public fete. Refreshments to complete meals will be available at the Mother's Club booth in the park.

After the paper plates and plastic spoons have been discarded, Roy S. Parmer, Program president, will give a few welcoming remarks about 8 p. m.

Officers and directors of the summer youth sports operation will be recognized and the Little League and Babe Ruth League all star teams and managers are to be accorded special recognition.

HIGHLIGHTING the program will be the presentation of trophies to championship clubs in three of the four YBP-operated leagues.

The Elks outfit will claim the Little Major League first place award. DuPont tapped the Babe Ruth Major pennant and L. M. Butch Co.'s squad won the BR minor league race.

No trophy will be given in the Little Minor League according to James I. Smith III, Program secretary - treasurer. League records became jumbled and a champion could not be determined. Several managers rejected a proposed playoff to decide a first position team.

Individual certificates of achievement will be awarded each player deemed eligible by his club manager. To receive a certificate, each player must return his uniform to the team manager before 8 p. m. Saturday.

All coaches have been asked to return equipment issued to their teams, along with the uniforms, between 10 a. m. and noon Saturday to the main shelterhouse in Ted Lewis Park.

Fissell, Van Camp Entries Spotlited In Ross Co. Races

A pair of Circleville harness favorites won double heat victories in the final day of racing at the Ross County Fair Saturday in Chillicothe.

Ned Gold, owned by George A. Fissell, 705 N. Pickaway St., steamed to two convincing triumphs in the 28-class pace with clockings of 2:12.2 and 2:12.4.

T. D. Van Camp's Chita Can took both ends of the two-year-old pace. Times were 2:17 and 2:14.2. Both horses were piloted by Jack Betts, honored as the driver with the most wins in the three-day meet.

Fissell's pacer claimed a $500 purse while the Van Camp run was for the same sum.

Golfer George Bayer, one of the game's longest hitters, wears size 14D shoes.

Oilers Clip Ironton By 6-1 Margin in Tournament Finals

A keyed-up Chillicothe River Oil team steamrollered past Ironton Chamberlin by a 6-1 count before an overflow crowd last night at Ted Lewis Park to clinch the 1961 District 8 Ohio amateur softball crown.

The Ross County powerhouse unit had to overcome an early Chamberlin thrust good for a one-run lead in claiming the much-sought championship.

Zornes drew a walk for Ironton with one man down in the top of the first inning. DeWitz waited out River hurler Schraw then stepped into a 3-2 toss and rammed an RBI single through the infield.

Schraw settled down to fan the next two batters and leave DeWitz stranded at second.

AT THE outset it looked like Chamberlin moundsman Eaches was out to duplicate his 1-0 Saturday night semifinal whitewashing of Calvary Lutheran Church. After leadoff man Bumgarner reached base on a fielding muff by shortstop McKnight, Eaches set the next six hitters down in order.

The Irontonites could do no better with Schraw's handouts, as he whiffed three of the six men he faced in the second and third frames.

The bottom dropped out of Chamberlin's try for a pennant grab in the last of the third as Eaches hurling brilliance faded and Oil sluggers brought up the seige guns.

Von Clausing opened the assault with a booming one-base shot. Schraw chipped in with a sacrifice that moved the leadoff man to second. Bumgarner tied things up with a single that plated Von Clausing and Shonkweiler clubbed a one-bagger to break the deadlock.

Cousins drew a free pass and Manion sent Shonkweiler flying home with the third Chillicothe tally on a sacrifice fly deep to left field.

The oilers were held in check in the fourth, but broke loose for two more scores in the fifth as Schraw, Bumgarner and Cousins unloaded singles.

MYERS got to Schraw for Chamberlin's only other safety in the top of the seventh after a pair of substitutes, Larimar and Jacobs, has completed River Oil's eight-single barrage with a pair of one-baggers and Schraw had sacrificed to bring in Conaway with Chillicothe's final run.

The ace Oil pitcher struck out A. Zornes to end the tilt and ice the flag decision.

At-bats, runs and hits by players for the champions were: Bumgarner (4-2-2); Shonkweiler (3-1-1); Cousins (2-0-1); Manion (2-0-0); DeLong (3-0-0); Bell (2-0-0); Larimar (1-0-1); Conaway (3-1-0); Jacobs (1-0-1); Von Clausing (2-1-1); and Schraw (1-1-1).

DeWitz and Myers got Ironton's only hits — singles — and R. Zornes scored the only run.

The new titlists will go the Clyde later this month to begin a drive for the state flag and a berth in regional and national finals play.

If all goes well, the new system should provide a more attentive group of gridders for mentor Benhase's instructions.

There are 12 thoroughbred race tracks in Maryland but only three Bourne, Laurel and Pimlico — are one mile ovals.

Today's Baseball No Livelier Than in Ruth's Day, Claim

NEW YORK (AP) — The baseball which Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris are belting at a record home run pace is slightly larger, slightly lighter and slightly livelier than the ball with which Babe Ruth hit 60 home runs in 1927, scientific tests by the New York Times disclosed today.

The same tests, however, failed to prove the ball should make home runs any easier today than 34 years ago. "Interesting, but inconclusive," was the scientists' verdict.

The Times, spurred by talk that Ruth's great record was in jeopardy because of the "rabbit" in the modern baseball, decided to subject some baseballs of different eras to analysis.

The job was given to a firm of consulting chemists and engineers, who spent a week putting the various baseballs through tests in laboratories and in New York's Central Park.

The baseballs were measured with a caliper. The material was subjected to closest scrutiny and chemical examination. Some were dissected. All of them were given a battering by an explosive-driven ram.

According to Robert W. Batey, the company's director of special evaluations, and Stephen E. Taub, the firm's acting director of engineering, there was no concrete finding to show the modern baseball differs appreciably from its

Cincy City Employees May Get Pay Boost

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati officials are considering a union proposal for across-the-board pay increases to city employees which would cost Cincinnati an estimated $2.8 million a year. The proposal was made Monday by officials of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, the Cocks Union, Firemen and Oilers Union and Engineers Union. The unions begin collective bargaining negotiations with the city next week.

Heaviest man on the Detroit Lions is tackle Roger Brown, formerly of Maryland State. The 6-foot-5 veteran weighs 290 pounds.

Views on TV-Radio

By CYTHIA LOWRY
 AP TV-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—While the viewers have been dozing in hammocks and relaxing with the reruns, all sorts of things have been happening in the TV lines of their favorite characters.

For instance, there's Wells Fargo Special Agent Jim Hardie, who all these years has been a lone wolf, bringing in countless bad men and mooning over the memory of his great love, Annabelle Sutton.

Well, sir, what with "Tales of Wells Fargo" being expanded into an hour's length and going into color, Jim Hardie will be a completely changed man when he returns to NBC Sept. 30, although he'll still look exactly like Dale Robertson and sound like Clark Gable.

Not only will he have acquired an assistant—played by Jack Ging, who will help carry the heavier burden—but he will have acquired some neighbors. A pretty widowed schoolmarm with two pretty daughters will have moved into the next ranch.

"We're not sure now," said Dale as we talked between scenes, "but maybe this year Jim Hardie will sort of forget Annabelle. This new romance may build as we go along. But we're not going to hit this too hard. After all the years—since 1957—Jim has been alone, we thought that suddenly surrounding him with a whole family might be upsetting. So we'll bring them in gradually."

But that's only the beginning. Barton McLane, the good, gray marshal of last season's "The Outlaws," will have retired, and Deputy Marshal Will Foreman—played by Don Collier—has been promoted into the top spot to become the show's top star. And a dog named Bill Doolin has been brought in as a foolin' player.

Some of the over-summer changes are more subtle. Sharp-eyed fans of the Danny Thomas show may have noted that, over the years, Danny Williams has gradually become more and more successful as a nightclub comedian. Each year his apartment has increased in size, and the furniture has become more expensive-looking. This season, judging from the lavish apartment decor, Danny has just about reached the peak of his career.

About a year ago publicists of ABC's "The Rifleman" were explaining that so many people had written in complaining about the sad situation of a widower trying to bring up a little boy without the influences of a good woman that they were going to add some romance to Chuck Connors' screen life. Joan Taylor joined the cast.

This year the publicity line still involves the U.S. mails, but it's the other side of the coin. So many people have written in opposing marriage between Chuck and Joan that there will be no wedding bells in the predictable future.

Seymour-Leist Unit Paces Friday Loop

Rolling a 1,752 best series, backed up by a 594 top singles effort, the Seymour-Leist team swept team honors in the latest Friday Mixed Couples League bowling at Prairie Lanes.

Betty Seymour showed the way in women's competition, taking high individual singles on a 164 and high three-game laurels with 450.

In the men's division, Mike Sparks was the singles pacesetter with 189. Earl Rutherford proved best over the series haul, ending with 525.

Nikki Houghton, Norman Leist and Earl Rutherford converted the 5-7 split, Jane Easter dropped the 3-10. Bob Good clipped the 5-8 and Kathleen Good toppled the 2-7 set-up.

According to Robert W. Batey, the company's director of special evaluations, and Stephen E. Taub, the firm's acting director of engineering, there was no concrete finding to show the modern baseball differs appreciably from its predecessors of the last three decades.

The engineering firm tested seven balls—one of them a ball hit but Ruth in 1927, and a 1936 ball autographed by the New York Giants, a 1960 official American League ball, a 1961 American League ball from the Yankees' collection and three official American League balls bought in a local sporting goods store.

All the balls are made — and have been for years — by A. G. Spalding & Bros., Inc., whose president, Edwin L. Parker, says: "Today's ball and the one Ruth hit are identical."

County Authors To Be Included In Giant Work

Decade of Effort Nears Finish for Ohioana Library

Several additional Pickaway County authors and their works will occupy a prominent position in the Ohioana Library Association's mammoth new publication "Ohio Authors and Their Works", scheduled to be off the press early in 1962.

The volume, 10 years in preparation, includes biographical information on almost 5,000 authors who are Ohioans by birth or settlement within the state. They were selected from a preliminary list of 15,000 nominations.

Mrs. John W. Eshelman III, 484 N. Pickaway St., is the Association's county chairman. She and fellow association members delved into the backgrounds of "about a dozen" contemporary Pickaway County literary lights. Their work along with more than 50 older local entries will form part of a 700-page encyclopedia of published Buckeye writers.

"OHIO Authors and Their Works" was edited in its final form by Dr. William Coyle, professor of English at Wittenberg University. He assumed the editorial post after Ernest Wessen of Mansfield, originator of the project, became ill.

Dr. Walter Rumsey Marvin, executive director of the Ohioana Library Association, rates the new listing as "the most important of all the Association's undertakings."

Mrs. Eshelman commented "By and large, Pickaway County does not produce a great many published authors. However, we are extremely proud of those who are listed."

A complete enumeration of local authors included in the compendium is not available. Mrs. Eshelman added. She did state intensive exploration was done on the biographies of Charles Roy Cox, Jeanette S. Greve, Dwight Marfield, Sarah M. Victor and Alja Robinson Crook.

"Probably the most widely-known Pickaway County writers of current status are James G. Dunton and Lillie Darst," Mrs. Eshelman added. She said the list would also include Dr. Margaret Adkins, professor of psychology at the University of North Carolina and author of a textbook in that field.

A more detailed report of Pickaway County's literary heritage will be released at the time the book is published, Association officials announced.

Rural Ohio County Reports WCTU Losing Its Influence

WAUSEON, Ohio (AP) — The once mighty temperance movement is losing its appeal, at least in rural Fulton County, Ohio.

Only 11 persons showed up recently for the annual meeting of the County Women's Christian Temperance Union. Oldtimers recall when ten times that many turned out.

Fulton County, in size and makeup, is strikingly similar to another Ohio County, Highland. That's where Frances E. Willard founded the WCTU in 1867.

Mrs. Lloyd Sutherland, a member of the Fulton County WCTU for most of her life, observed: "The organization is declining in membership and influence."

One reason for the decline, she said, is the inability to recruit young people, particularly school children.

"We don't have women who are trained to go into schools to talk about temperance. And we can't get the teachers to take our literature."

WCTU members aren't as enthusiastic as they once were, she continued, adding: "We have many members who pay their membership fees but don't come to meetings.

"Also, we have members who permit us to use their homes for meetings but prefer that it not be mentioned in the newspapers."

On the topic of imbibing, she stated firmly that the nation was better off and healthier during prohibition.

The featured speaker at the Fulton County meeting was Ohio Sen. Harry Schwall, Wauseon, an abstainer.

He told the group that there is little chance the legislature ever will vote the state dry. Most of the state's 38 senators are social drinkers, he said, and only five or six completely abstain.

"The most you can expect is that the legislature will continue to raise taxes in liquor to provide the state with more money," he added.

Among those present at the meeting was 83-year-old Mrs. Lulu Plettner. She joined the WCTU 69 years ago.

Glider Pilot Crosses Wide Area of Ohio

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP) — Sailplane pilot Robert Fisher hopes to make it today to Elmira, N.Y., or at least well into Pennsylvania, on his cross-country flight. The 46-year-old Moses Lake, Wash., farmer covered about 105 miles Monday in a 3-hour, 32-minute flight from Bluffton, Ohio, to Wooster. His sailplane reached a high point of about 5,000 feet over Mansfield.

County Authors To Be Included In Giant Work

Decade of Effort Nears Finish for Ohioana Library

Several additional Pickaway County authors and their works will occupy a prominent position in the Ohioana Library Association's mammoth new publication "Ohio Authors and Their Works", scheduled to be off the press early in 1962.

The volume, 10 years in preparation, includes biographical information on almost 5,000 authors who are Ohioans by birth or settlement within the state. They were selected from a preliminary list of 15,000 nominations.

Mrs. John W. Eshelman III, 484 N. Pickaway St., is the Association's county chairman. She and fellow association members delved into the backgrounds of "about a dozen" contemporary Pickaway County literary lights. Their work along with more than 50 other local entries will form part of a 700-page encyclopedia of published Buckeye writers.

"OHIO Authors and Their Works" was edited in its final form by Dr. William Coyle, professor of English at Wittenberg University. He assumed the editorial post after Ernest Wessen of Mansfield, originator of the project, became ill.

Dr. Walter Rumsey Marvin, executive director of the Ohioana Library Association, rates the new listing as "the most important of all the Association's undertakings."

Mrs. Eshelman commented "By and large, Pickaway County does not produce a great many published authors. However, we are extremely proud of those who are listed."

A complete enumeration of local authors included in the compendium is not available. Mrs. Eshelman added. She did state intensive exploration was done on the biographies of Charles Roy Cox, Jeanette S. Greve, Dwight Marfield, Sarah M. Victor and Alja Robinson Crook.

"Probably the most widely-known Pickaway County writers of current status are James G. Dutton and Lillie Darst," Mrs. Eshelman added. She said the list would also include Dr. Margaret Adkins, professor of psychology at the University of North Carolina and author of a textbook in that field.

A more detailed report of Pickaway County's literary heritage will be released at the time the book is published, Association officials announced.

Rural Ohio County Reports WCTU Losing Its Influence

WAUSEON, Ohio (AP) — The once mighty temperance movement is losing its appeal, at least in rural Fulton County, Ohio.

Only 11 persons showed up recently for the annual meeting of the County Women's Christian Temperance Union. Oldtimers recall when ten times that many turned out.

Fulton County, in size and makeup, is strikingly similar to another Ohio County, Highland. That's where Frances E. Willard founded the WCTU in 1867.

Mrs. Lloyd Sutherland, a member of the Fulton County WCTU for most of her life, observed: "The organization is declining in membership and influence."

One reason for the decline, she said, is the inability to recruit young people, particularly school children.

"We don't have women who are trained to go into schools to talk about temperance. And we can't get the teachers to take our literature."

WCTU members aren't as enthusiastic as they once were, she continued, adding:

"We have many members who pay their membership fees but don't come to meetings.

"Also, we have members who permit us to use their homes for meetings but prefer that it not be mentioned in the newspapers."

On the topic of imbibing, she stated firmly that the nation was better off and healthier during prohibition.

The featured speaker at the Fulton County meeting was Ohio Sen. Harry Schwall, Wauseon, an abstainer.

He told the group that there is little chance the legislature ever will vote the state dry. Most of the state's 38 senators are social drinkers, he said, and only five or six completely abstain.

"The most you can expect is that the legislature will continue to raise taxes in liquor to provide the state with more money," he added.

Among those present at the meeting was 83-year-old Mrs. Lulu Plettner. She joined the WCTU 69 years ago.
